Period ended 31 January 2014

RECM

The RECM Money Market Fund is a money market unit trust that provides a sensible cash portfolio with very competitive fees. The Fund aims to maximise interest income, preserve capital and provide liquidity. Capital losses are unlikely but can occur. For example, should one of the issuers of an asset held within the underlying Fund default and a loss occur, this loss will be borne by the Fund and the investors.

INVESTMENT COMMENT

The RECM Money Market Fund generated an income yield of 5.9% as at 31 January 2014. Portfolio duration amounted to 80 days and was unchanged from December 2013. The long end of the money market yield curve has steepened significantly over the month as persistent Rand weakness has resulted in a general re-pricing of fixed income assets. The SARB surprised markets by increasing the repo rate from 5% to 5.5% at the first MPC meeting of the year. December CPI registered 5.6% but the Reserve Bank highlighted concerns around the upside risks posed to inflation following the 23% depreciation of the rand to the US dollar over 2013. We believe the fund remains competitively positioned in the current interest rate cycle.

INVESTMENT COMMENT

Notable purchases in the Fund over the past six months include Inpex, Arcelormittal (the global parent company), Mediaset Espana, African Bank and Anglo American. Inpex is a Japanese oil and gas producer that's busy developing the massive Ichtys offshore project in Australia. While the entire oil and gas sector appears to have fallen out of favour with investors, Inpex stands out as the cheapest of the group. As with most oil and gas development projects, there have been upwards revisions to the expected cost of the Ichtys project over time. Given the dim view the market currently has of the capital intensity of global oil companies, it comes as no surprise that Inpex is priced for very poor long-term economics. Based on our work, we're a bit more optimistic about the long-term value on offer. As for sales, a group of European stocks dominate the table. The share prices of Carrefour, Titan Cement and Hellenic Exchanges all reacted strongly to the faintest glimmer of improved business conditions in their European markets.

INVESTMENT COMMENT

Following a dismal first six months of 2013, in which the platinum price declined sharply, the share prices of most platinum miners recovered strongly in the second half of 2013. Volatility has been par for the course in the sector and the platinum miners still feature prominently in our top holdings. Smaller holdings Iliad and RECM & Calibre (full disclosure: RECM manages RECM & Calibre) also put in strong share price performances in the latter half of 2013. As a building materials wholesale and retail operation, Iliad faces difficult industry conditions. But it appears that the rebranding of the company's stores has gone well and management is making the most of the hand it was dealt. After a slow start, investment activity in RECM & Calibre picked up dramatically during 2013 and the capital raised when the company listed in 2010 has now been fully committed to investments. The portfolio is an interesting collection of assets that we're excited about and the market appears to share our excitement and bid up the shares strongly during 2013.
