

Tax-Free Investments: 5 Years Makes a Big Difference

Source: RECM Analyst

Disclosure

Collective Investment Schemes are generally medium to long term investments. The value of participatory interests or investments may go down as well as up and fluctuations or movements in exchange rates may also cause the value of underlying international investments to go up or down. Returns are calculated on a lump sum investment, NAV-NAV, net of fees, with net distributions reinvested. Annualised returns are the weighted average compound growth rate earned each year over the given time period. Individual investor performance may differ as result of initial fees, the actual investment date, the date of reinvestment and dividend withholding tax. Past performance is not necessarily a guide to the future. The manager does not provide any guarantees either with respect to a funds' capital or investment returns. Collective investments are traded at ruling prices and can engage in borrowing and scrip lending. The manager may borrow up to 10% of the market value of the portfolio where insufficient liquidity exists. A schedule of fees and charges and maximum commissions is available on request from the manager. Commission and incentives may be paid and if so, would be included in the overall costs. The quantifiable deduction is the annual management fee (and performance fee where applicable), whilst non-quantifiable fees included in the net asset value price may comprise brokerage, auditor's fees, bank charges, taxes, trustee and custodian fees. Collective investment prices are calculated on a net asset value basis, which is the total value of all assets in the portfolio including any income accrual and less any permissible deductions from the portfolio. Forward pricing is used. Where a fund is exposed to foreign securities, investors should consider the (a) potential constraints on liquidity and repatriations of funds, (b) global macro-economic risks, (c) political risks, (d) foreign exchange risks, (e) tax risks, (f) settlement risks and (g) potential limitations on the availability of market information. Funds may be closed. Prior to investing, please read the Minimum Disclosure Document for your chosen fund/s available at www.recm.co.za.
